The temperance movement is gaining force all over the State.

Perry Mattison, a colored man living on the plantation of Mr. Peter Acker, had his house and its entire contents destroyed by fire on Sunday night.

We direct attention to the change in the advertisement of J. R. Fant & Co., than which there is no more enterprising firm in Anderson. Their stock of spring goods is complete and varied, and purchasers will be properly treated when they go there for goods.

Up to the 9th instant inclusive, there had been sold in this place 2,230 tons of ammoniated fertilizers and 1,034 tons of acid phosphate, representing in value about $3,300 bales of cotton weighing 450 pounds each. Reducing the value to dollars, and allowing ten cents per pound for the cotton, the total sum amounts to $126,350.

Associate Grange No. 2 will meet at Cedar Youth Academy on Saturday, 23d instant, at 10 a. m. Essays on the following subjects are expected from the gentlemen named: "Does it pay to raise sugar-cane for syrup?"—Warren Martin; "Winter treatment of stock?"—B. F. Russell; "Best plant materials for composting?"—J. W. Rosmond.

"What South Carolina needs is population—people to take hold of and utilize her thousands of rich and unutilized acres."—Georgetown Times. Yes, and the employment of her thousands of idle capital in manufacturing enterprises. Put the money to work in this way and there will be still greater inducements for thrifty immigrants to come into our State.

The Paris Store announces a general reduction in the prices of goods in this issue, and a cordial invitation is extended to its patrons to call and examine the stock and prices before making their purchases of spring goods. Mr. Lesser, the proprietor, is bending every energy to make the Paris Store a popular resort for both ladies and gentlemen, and we hope he will succeed to the measure of his desires.

The colored people of the town are still continuing the work of repairing the Greeley Institute building, and hope soon to have the work completed. They have expended altogether about $480 on the work, and have yet $150 or $200 more to raise to finish the work as they originally contemplated. Of the amount expended $52.30 was made last Friday night by a hot supper given by the Good Templars, and $20 was given some time ago by the Good Samaritans. The money has certainly been well spent, and the colored people deserve great credit for contributing so liberally of their limited means to so worthy an object. Before quitting the good work they expect to enclose the lot with a good fence, dig a well, furnish the school rooms with large maps, and put the entire premises in first-class condition in every respect.

The case of the State vs. Wm. A. Mullikin, Van Mullikin, James Bryant and Thomas Mullikin, charged with riot and assault and battery with intent to kill, came up for a preliminary examination before Trial Justice J. C. Whitehead on Saturday morning. The State was represented by Mr. John B. Moore and the defense by Messrs. Murray and Murray. The parties had been required to give bail in the sum of $500 for their appearance, and quite a number of persons came from their section of the County to hear the evidence, as the young men involved in the case were respectable and worthy citizens, and great surprise was expressed at the charge against them. The testimony for the State not only failed to show that they were guilty, but proved beyond a doubt that they were entirely innocent of the charge against them. The Trial Justice expressed himself as highly gratified at the result, and stated that the affidavits and statements made to him had been such that he feared that he had made a mistake in admitting the parties to bail, but that the testimony for the State left no doubt of the innocence of the young men before him. He therefore, dismissed the case as to each of these defendants.

Mr. Carwell's Lectures.

According to appointment, Hon. Edward Carwell, of Canada, the distinguished and eloquent temperance lecturer, lectured in the Court House at this place on Monday and Tuesday nights last, and on Gen. Ayer's school-room on Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. His lecture on Monday night was on the subject of temperance, and was listened to by a large, intelligent and refined audience, who evinced their interest in the subject by close and respectful attention to all the speaker had to say in reference to it. He was introduced to the audience by Mr. W. H. Frierson, the Worthy Patriarch of the Division of Sons of Temperance at this place, in a few appropriate remarks, and spoke for about one hour, considering the subject under three heads—fashion, aversion and appetite. His arguments were forcible and convincing, and his illustrations—in which he deals quite liberally—to the point and humorous and pathetic. His lecture was one of the finest we ever listened to, and will doubtless accomplish much good for the cause in this community.

His lecture Tuesday afternoon to the boys was tolerably well attended, and was heard with interest by those present. He told the boys never to lie, swear nor drink ardent spirits, as all three were habits that would grow on them, and would eventually bring them to shame and disgrace if persisted in. His advice was good, indeed, and we sincerely hope the boys will remember it through all future life, and abstain from the low, vulgar and degrading practices referred to by the lecturer.

On Tuesday night another large and appreciative audience greeted him in the Court House, and was entertained for an hour and a half with a most eloquent and humorous discourse on the subject of Laughing. This lecture, like his others, was full of common sense advice—advice to husbands and wives, to parents and children, to young men and young women, to boys and girls. He drew striking contrasts between the morose and grum and the cheerful and happy people—between those who look only on the dark side of everything in life and those who look only on the bright side. The audience gave close attention to every word that was said, and seemed to regret when he closed. His visit to our town was a source of great pleasure to our citizens, and will doubtless prove beneficial to the causes of temperance and morality, for the promotion of which he is laboring so earnestly and assiduously.

He left here on Wednesday for Belton, where he had an appointment to lecture that evening.

His lectures at other points in the State have also been largely attended, and have everywhere resulted in good for the temperance cause. At Greenwood on Saturday he organized a Division of Sons of Temperance, with about seventy-five members, and another at Abbeville Saturday night with about twenty-five, while at other places where Divisions already existed large accessions to their numbers were gained. His labors in the State have, therefore, accomplished good for society generally, and doubtless all will join in the wish that it may be lasting. We hope the good man may live many years yet, and as he grows older his usefulness may increase.

Blind Tom.

Our citizens will have an opportunity on Saturday evening next of witnessing the wonderful performances of this most wonderful being—the equal of whom, in all probability, the world has never produced. Blind Tom is an enigma, a mystery. A something that no living man can explore. His performances are astounding; they are more—marvelous. What secret power, what comprehension can there be in his scattered and ill-balanced mind that can grasp, eye, master, a sonata of Beethoven, the immortal of Chopin, a rhapsody of Liszt? Yet he does it. His unseemly skull envelopes a brain that is the strangest compound of weakness and strength, obtuseness and perception, imbecility and genius that ever mortal man beheld. Blind, uncouth, unnatural, incoherent in thought and speech, he yet performs great things, things that many a bright and penetrating mind would aspire to in vain.

To more striking or wonderful contrast could well be imagined than the grinning, swaying, gesticulating Tom that stands waiting before an audience, and the masterful and inspired Tom seated at a piano and reveling in the grandeur of rhapsody and sonata.

The subtle power, the erratic genius that holds sway over him is incomprehensible. To unravel this mystery, this creature of impulse, this mental phenomenon is beyond the power of the human mind. Let the man ponder on the wonder of the wonderful performance of Blind Tom as he can get accommodations, and none will regret it. See advertisement.

Death of an Aged Lady.

Mrs. Aseneth McGee, relic of the late Rev. William McGee, died at the residence of her son, Rev. M. McGee, in Belton township, on Thursday morning last at 1 o'clock in a few days of her eightieth birthday. She had been suffering lately from a severe cold, but a day or two before her death was considerably better and able to sit up and do light work. On Wednesday, however, she was taken worse, and the night following breathed her last. She was a most excellent lady, and was widely known and greatly admired and beloved for many noble christian virtues. She was the last living child of Hezekiah Rice, one of the pioneer settlers of upper Carolina, and a man of influence and position. The remains of Mrs. McGee were placed to rest in the Rice burying-ground at the old homestead, the present residence of her son, after appropriate funeral services, conducted by Rev. C. V. Barnes. A large family connection mourn her death.

PENDELTON, S. C., April 8, 1881.

DEAR SIR:—In your INTELLIGENCER of March 24th you recommended George and Frank Walker to the public. Please allow me to tell you what I know of Frank Walker, he being the only one that honored me with a call. He is the first person who ever talked impudently to me in my own house. He is a grand impostor on the people. He talked when Mr. Scribbling was absent. I told him Mr. S. always did the buying of such books. He wished me to send my son with him to find Mr. S., a mile away, but I would not do it. When the (Walker) was still here Mr. S. came home. Walker showed his books—one we had. Mr. S. wrote him that he had no time to read such a large book, and he had great deal of reading matter already, and did not wish to buy, but that he would help him a little, as he felt sorry for the man. Walker refused to accept money—said he was no beggar. Mr. S. scribbled then went out, and Walker wrote me saying Mr. S. did not treat him politely—that he was mean and no account, his very words, even underscoring them; said Mr. S. scarcely shook hands with him when he came. He then asked me to persuade Mr. S. to buy. I told him I did not wish the book as I never expected to read it, although it looked like a good book, and was quite handsome, but that he should let Mr. S. help him a little. Walker said Mr. S. was lazy and must be a hard case. I then told him he need not be insulting, if he was deaf and dumb—that no one had treated him unkindly since he came in the house. He seemed vexed because we would not buy, and wished me to say I would purchase next Fall. I told him Mr. S. was sure to forget he had just been abusing my husband. I then went out to look for Mr. S. to make the man leave, but could not find him, so had to let him sit in my parlor until he came. I wish it was in my power to inform every person in the State of this Walker's impudence, so he would have to go to work for a living instead of depending on the kindness of the people.

Yours truly,

V. H. STRIBLING.

All scientists know the proneness of insects to deposit their eggs in decayed fruit. What creates worms in the human body? Think of this and give Shriners' Indian Vermifuge occasionally to your children.

ORANGEBURG, S. C., Feb. 20, 1880. Dr. L. T. HILL—Dear Sir: I have used your Hepatic Purgative for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and I find it the best family medicine I have ever used. I bought it from your druggist, S. A. Reeves, and I can recommend it to all who are suffering from either of these diseases.

COLUMBUS, GA., Nov. 28, 1877. Dr. C. J. MOFFETT—Dear Sir: Since learning its value, I always keep your Teething (Teething Powders) in my house, and consider it an indispensable medicine for small children. I have known it to remove worms when all other remedies had failed.

M. M. MOORE, Clerk City Council.

COLUMBUS, GA., Feb. 6, 1878. Dr. C. J. MOFFETT—Dear Doctor: We can commend your Teething (Teething Powders) as the most satisfactory prescription we ever used for the loose bowels or eruptions of our children. They have sweet us many dollars in doctors' bills.

Yours truly,

Messrs. Lamar, Rankin & Lamar—Gentlemen: A member of my family who I have in Consumption has been entirely cured by the use of Brewer's Lung Restorer. His condition was very alarming to all of us, and we did every thing we could think of to benefit him, without success, until I got him a bottle of your Lung Restorer. He began to improve after the first dose, and before he had taken two bottles was entirely cured, where I feared no cure was possible, and I most cheerfully recommend it to all who have any affections of the Lungs. He was coughing and spitting all the time, so incessantly that it prevented his sleeping at night, and what little sleep he got did not refresh him in the least. Had but little appetite, and since he began the use of Brewer's Lung Restorer has slept well and his appetite is very much better. I have never seen anything act so promptly and effect a cure in so short time. We are very great success, and hoping the above may influence many to try Brewer's Lung Restorer where they need a medicine to strengthen and restore the Lungs to a healthy condition.

I am very respectfully,

Mrs. E. J. WILLIAMS, 72 Washington Ave., near Wesleyan Female College.

It is FOUND AT LAST! SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN!—A new era is dawning upon woman. Hitherto she has been called upon to suffer the ills of mankind and her own besides. The frequent and distressing irregularities peculiar to her sex have long been to her the "direful spring of woes unnumbered." In the mansion of the rich and hovel of poverty alike woman has been the constant yet patient victim of a thousand ills unknown to man—and without a remedy. "Oh Lord, how long!" in the agony of her soul, she cried. But now the hour of her redemption is come. She will suffer no more, for Bradford's Female Regulator, "Woman's Best Friend," is prepared only by Dr. J. Bradford, Atlanta, Ga., and sold at $1.50 per bottle by Wilhite & Wilhite, and Simpson, Reid & Co., Anderson, S. C.

A delicate child is more subject to worms than a healthy one, as in the economy of nature, one animal is made to subsist upon another, and the weaker goes down. At the first indication of worms administer Shriners' Indian Vermifuge, the infallible remedy.
